Shatnez in Silvio Bresciani Suits

A 100% wool, man's Silvio Bresciani (Italy) suit, was tested and a linen collar reinforcement was found. Found by R' Aaron Drebin (Flatbush Shatnez Laboratory).

Question: Why are we pointing out this particular suit when many men's suits are known to contain shatnez?

Answer: The suit is currently being sold at a suit sale under the presumption that many have been sold and tested and that this brand is shatnez-free. Therefore many people have just not tested their suits!

This again reinforces the lesson: Even though suits of the same brand have already been tested and found free of shatnez, you must test every individual suit because variations exist within a brand. Do not rely on someone's word; have your suit checked by a professional shatnez laboratory.
